

SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORTATION EMISSIONS PROGRAM

STEP CERTIFICATION

PURPOSEFUL

Work toward a specific, impactful single occupancy vehicle (SOV) reduction goal

FLEXIBLE

Choose the programs best suited to help your unique workplace achieve your SOV reduction goal

SUPPORTIVE

Solano Mobility staff will provide technical and programmatic support

STEP CERTIFICATION PROCESS

GET CONNECTED

GET ASSISTANCE

GET CERTIFIED

GET INCENTIVES

Contact Katelyn at kcosta@sta.ca.gov or 800-535-6883 to opt-in and get started.

Presorted Std
U.S. Postage
PAID
Permit #8
Fairfield, CA

Solano EDC, a public-private, nonprofit, dedicated to the economic growth of Solano County, is pleased to announce a new programs that will benefit businesses and residents throughout the county. We have partnered with leading organizations in the fields of transportation and energy conservation to bring transportation alternatives, microloans, energy assistance, and planning programs to the business community.

Find out more about our efforts here: SolanoEDC.org

SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORTATION EMISSIONS PROGRAM (STEP)

STEP is a program of Solano Transportation Authority (STA). STA is committed to continually improving Solano County's transportation system so our residents have easy access to jobs, schools, shopping, and essential services. To that end, STA – working with each of the cities and The County of Solano – plans, funds, manages and delivers a wide array of activities designed to keep Solano moving forward. STA will walk your organization through the design and implementation of a commuter benefits program for your workplace at no cost to you

STA is here to help your workplace develop a transportation plan and commuter benefits package that meets the existing needs of employers and comfortably transitions you to alternative modes of transportation. STA will walk your organization through the design and implementation of a commuter benefits program for your workplace at no cost to you.

Learn about our options for commuters online at solanomobility.org/employer